THE ORGANISATION SELF-ASSESSMENT TOOLS

Undertaking the assessment is a valuable process providing service providers with the means to assess and understand their own systems and program operations in order to strengthen the services they deliver to the community.

There are five Organisational Self-Assessment Tools (OSATs).

- 1. Consumer OSAT – This consists of fourteen statements that relate to the support being received by consumers.
- 2. Carer OSAT – This consists of twenty-eight statements that relate to the support being received by the person being cared for and how the carer is supported in their caring role.
- 3. Two levels of Staff OSAT – One for Direct Care Workers and one for Non-Direct Care Workers. They consist of twenty-eight statements that relate to the support consumers receive and how staff feel they are supported by their manager.
- 4. Leader OSAT – This consists of twenty-eight statements that relate to how the organisation supports its consumers and how the organisation supports its staff.

Survey participants are asked to evaluate a range of statements according to the level of agreement or disagreement they choose. There are five ordered response levels

Strongly agree – Agree – Neither agree nor disagree – Disagree – Strongly disagree

The assessment is not, in itself, intended for use as an accreditation tool, although it is likely to be a useful tool for organisations that are preparing for or participating in a quality review using the Community Care Common Standards. If your organisation has already attained accreditation, it may serve to reinforce your commitment to the process of continual improvement.

It is also not intended to be a detailed audit tool that looks at every aspect of organisational practice. Rather it is a tool designed to broadly identify person-centred practice that is good and areas for improvement.

After completing the assessment, you should review the findings. The aim of the exercise is to identify areas of achievement and those in need of improvement in order to make enhancements and take corrective actions. The process for doing this is described in Section 4.
